Product Description

Manuka Honey from New Zealand is a rare New Zealand pure raw honey that has been used in traditional medicine, as it has been found to be effective in treating numerous health conditions. The unique thing about Manuka Honey is that not only is it proven to have antibacterial properties, but also antiviral and antifungal properties.

500g Natural Manuka Honey UMF10+

New Zealand Manuka Honey is an antibacterial pure raw honey because of a special compound that occurs naturally within the natural bee honey. This compound is known as methylglyoxal (MGO). MGO is a substance that has been shown to be effective in treating many different conditions, including acne, athlete foot, bee stings, burns, cuts and scrapes, ear infections, gingivitis (gum disease), throat infections skin issues such as eczema and psoriasis, and sore throats.

It is common for New Zealand Manuka Honey to have levels of MGO that are up to 100 times higher than other kinds of raw natural bee honey, which makes New Zealand Manuka Honey a true Superfood.
