Product Description

Wholesale High Quality Tea Pollen Pure Raw Bee Pollen Honey Bee Pollen Granules

Bee pollen consists of the male reproductive matter from flowers, which bonds with female floral components to complete plant breeding. Every single pollen speck holds all essential nutrients needed to create new life — including complete vitamins, minerals, enzymes, coenzymes, protein-rich amino acids, carbs, plant male hormones and trace elements. It is truly a concentrated source of natural living energy.

For honeybees, pollen acts as their high-protein staple food, eaten together with honey to support colony growth. Moreover, pollen's unique color and grain shape can easily reveal which flower variety it came from, as well as its place of harvest.
